the industrial revolution provided the greatest increase in living standards the world has ever known while propelling britain to dominance on the global stage in forging modernity martin hutchinson looks at how and why britain gained this prize ahead of its european competitors after comparing their endowments and political structures as far back as 1600 he then traces how britain through better policies primarily from the political tory party diverged from other european countries hutchinson s harvard mba allows a unique perspective on the early industrial enterprises many successes resulted from marketing control systems and logistics rather than from production technology alone while on a national scale the scientific method and commercial competition were as important as physical infrastructure by 1830 through ever improving policies britain had built a staggering industrial lead half a century ahead of its rivals then the tories lost power and policy changed forever in his conclusion hutchinson shows how changes welcomed by conventional historians caused the decline of industrial britain nevertheless the policies that drove growth ingenuity and rising living standards are still available for those bold enough to adopt them
