in this major new book leading cultural thinker ien ang engages with urgent questions of identity in an age of globalisation and diaspora the starting point for ang s discussion is the experience of visiting taiwan ang a person of chinese descent born in indonesia and raised in the netherlands found herself faced with an almost insurmountable difficulty surrounded by people who expected her to speak to them in chinese she writes it was the beginning of an almost decade long engagement with the predicaments of chineseness in diaspora in taiwan i was different because i couldn t speak chinese in the west i was different because i looked chinese from this autobiographical beginning ang goes on to reflect upon tensions between asia and the west at a national and global level and to consider the disparate meanings of chineseness in the contemporary world she offers a critique of the increasingly aggressive construction of a global chineseness and challenges western tendencies to equate chinese with asian identity ang then turns to the west exploring the paradox of australia s identity as a western country in the asian region and tracing australia s uneasy relationship with its asian neighbours from the white australia policy to contemporary multicultural society finally ang draws together her discussion of asia and the west to consider the social and intellectual space of the in between arguing for a theorising not of difference but of togetherness in contemporary societies in 1935 adolf hitler declared munich the capital of the movement it was here that he developed his anti semitic beliefs and founded the nazi party though hitler s immediate milieu during the 1910s and 1920s has received ample attention this book argues that the munich of this period is worthy of study in its own right and that the changes the city underwent between 1918 and 1923 are absolutely crucial for understanding the rise of antisemitism and eventually nazism in germany before 1918 munich had a decidedly cosmopolitan flavor but its open atmosphere was shattered by the november revolution of 1918 19 jews were prominently represented among many of the european revolutions of the late 1910s and early 1920s but nowhere did jewish revolutionaries and government representatives appear in such high numbers as in munich the link between jews and communist revolutionaries was especially strong in the minds of the city s residents in the aftermath of the revolution and the short lived socialist regime that followed the jews of munich experienced a massive backlash the book unearths the story of munich as ground zero for the racist and reactionary german right revealing how this came about and what it meant for those who lived through it exploring tailored family planning strategies for marginalized groups this work delves into comparative insights from asian contexts providing actionable approaches to empower and transform communities foster sustainable development and improve reproductive health outcomes
